Detailed Report

The Information Technology Group has been working diligently to replace and reorganize the network switches at Union Station Headquarters. Replacing end-of-life switches will provide a more robust network infrastructure with the added benefit of improving our infrastructure reliability. The project team conducted its first pilot switchover on the 6th floor back in late 2024. After its success, the team planned the Headquarters physical security network switchover and then proceeded to work through several floors of the Headquarters building per month while simultaneously reorganizing, rerouting cables, and cleaning network servers.

In coordination with multiple teams within the Information Technology Group, other organizations, such as Headquarters Security, were actively involved in performing these switchovers during off days to avoid network disruption. The full migration is scheduled to be completed this month.
